The role of a teacher

Ms. Neeru Nayyer

"A teacher is never an ordinary person. Construction and destruction can be produced in his lap." The above given quotation by Chanakya shows the power of teachers and teaching. Teaching is a very important activity on which the base of any nation and culture is established. So let's see what teaching is.

The word 'teaching' means the work of a teacher to provide knowledge and guidance. It is one of the oldest and noblest services to the society in any culture.. Teaching not only shows the right path that the students should follow but also prepares the human resource for the further development of the nation. It has the potential to have a great impact in the moulding of the next generation. That is why education should be valued by social institutions like government, the church, the family and civil society. Therefore teaching is:

- A process to impart knowledge and information
- A process of causing change
- A process to instruct and guide others

Kalam in his autobiography 'The Wings of Fire' pays tribute to his teachers. He is thankful to the teaching that he received from his teachers at the primary level. He was inspired to study further and be a scientist because of the care and guidance of his science teacher Shivasubramaniyam Iyer. That is the role of a teacher and his teaching in the life of a student.

The pillars of yesteryears!

HAPPY TEACHERS DAY

Another important thing about the profession of teaching is that it enlightens both the teacher as well as the student. Aristotle rightly said, "Those who educate the children are more to be honoured than they who produce them; for these only gave them life, those art of living well." So teaching is a profession that provides an art of living. It is not only a duty but a moral duty.

It is not a profession but a noble service to the world to create a more beautiful and peaceful world.

Teachers v/s Students... May the deserving win

A Special Morning

Everyone has a special day in their life. Maybe, it's their birthday party or passing a mathematics test for the first time. I too had such a day in my life.

One morning when I woke up and went to the kitchen to greet my mom a "very good morning" I was shocked as she wasn't there. I ran to my grandma but she was also not to be found in the verandah, watering the plants. I called out for my maid to ask her where they both had gone. She told me that grandma had taken my mother to the hospital. I had tears in my eyes and asked her what happened to my mother. My maid laughed and said that nothing happened to her but she had a baby growing in her stomach. I had tears in my eyes, not of sorrow but of happiness and joy. For that moment I felt like the luckiest person on earth. I was going to be lucky to have a sibling.

That morning was really a special one for me and why not. I was going to have my loveliest playmate.

I told my maid to take me to the hospital as soon as possible. We rushed to the hospital, full of excitement and joy. I ran up the stairs of the hospital to meet my mother. I went to her room. I saw that she had tears in her eyes, while she said to me with great joy "So you are going to be a big sister."

On 3rd July 2007, my wish came true and it was a truly special day for me. When my sister was born, I was a big, responsible sister now.

My Collection of Poems

My Pyjamas

Those pyjamas were there when I was small,
But now I don't need them because I am tall,
I have a bedroom and a hall,
Those pyjamas are not seen at all.

Flying Man

Flying man flying man flying very high,
Flying man flying man over the sky,

Flying man flying man won't you take me?

My Pet Cat

I have a pet cat,
It likes eating rats,
She sits on a mat,
